Transformative Learning: We can do better in Student:
Susan R. Komives is Professor Emerita at the University of Maryland. She is past president of the Council or the Advancement of Standards in Higher Education and the American College Personnel Association; was vice president of two colleges; and is the author/editor of a dozen books including Student Services, Exploring Leadership, Leadership for a Better World, and the Handbook for Student Leadership Development. She is executive editor of the inaugural New Directions in Student Leadership series. She was a member of the teams that developed Learning Reconsidered, the ACPA/NASPA Competencies, the Social Change Model of Leadership Development, the Relational Leadership Model, the international Multi-Institutional Study of Leadership, and the Leadership Identity Development grounded theory. She is co-founder of the National Clearinghouse for Leadership Programs (NCLP) and a former member of the Board of Directors of the International Leadership Association. Dr. Komives is a recipient of both the ACPA and NASPA outstanding research awards and the ACPA Life Time Achievement Award.

Critical is the “student” in Student Activism. Join in a dialogue with a group of diverse student activists as we explore the issues they deem to be of greatest concern for the 21st Century. They will share the means through which those issues may be expressed in the coming academic year and beyond. We will discuss the most appropriate ways to support and ensure the safety of students during times and events of activism without undue interference. Through a period of open dialogue, we will have the opportunity to explore and challenge our ways of supporting student activism from the seat of the senior student affairs officer.

◊ Denise Maybank, Michigan State University
This session will provide a brief overview on the latest thinking and proposed legislation regarding Title IX and sexual violence. APLU has continued to engage in effective lobbying efforts to influence and inform the key decision makers crafting legislation. The heart of the session will focus on how campus climate surveys can be used to inform culture change. An in depth analysis of how an institution used the campus climate survey to create a revolution to end sexual violence will be discussed. This session will highlight promising practices in prevention efforts, as well as, the role of SSAO’s and how they can lead change.

Presenter:

◊ Felicia McGinty, Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs, Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey
