Policies to Support Enabling Environment

- Tanzania: Trade policy
  - Export bans constrain economic growth as private sector investments are discouraged, trade is limited and panic-buying often ensues.
  - FTF strategy supports education both in Tanzania and regionally about the impacts of such bans.

- Kenya: Regional integration
  - In response to Tanzanian export bans, the Government of Kenya warned that domestic prices would soar and immediately called for Tanzania to reverse the bans.
  - FTF strategy works with the East African community to rationalize regional trade policies.

- Ghana: Land tenure
  - Difficult to secure land and resolve disputes, and manage deteriorating land fertility.
  - FTF strategy includes 5 different ways to approach the issues with the Government of Ghana.
In collaboration with the FTF team, develop strategic partnership initiatives with India, Brazil, and South Africa – on food security initiatives in third countries.

Lead agriculture dialogues with non-FTF countries such as Switzerland, Nigeria (FTF but not focus country), Angola.
Nutrition and 1,000 Days

- The 1,000 Days partnership focuses attention on the 1,000 day window of opportunity from pregnancy to age two, when adequate nutrition has the greatest impact on saving lives and on a child’s lifetime cognitive and physical capacity.

- Stakeholders are also challenged to create partnerships and take action in the 1,000 days from launch in Sept. 2010 through June 2013.

- 1,000 Days supports the Scaling Up Nutrition (SUN) movement, which aims to increase nutrition assistance in alignment with country-led plans and priorities based on the SUN Framework and Roadmap.
Consultation

- Use political/economic knowledge of in-country actors to promote inclusive stakeholder consultation
- Facilitate private sector linkages, especially with American businesses
- Advocate for meaningful consultation around investment plan development, revision, and implementation to remain a priority

Outreach
Outreach

- Galvanize stakeholders and the broader public to prioritize agriculture, nutrition and food security efforts, including CAADP and FTF events

Public Diplomacy

- Engage and educate key champions and constituencies who can help ensure that the government places emphasis on food security agenda
Conclusion

FTF Diplomacy is about making Feed the Future sustainable, effective and successful.
