

WHAT IS THE CSC?

APLU's Council on Strategic Communications is a network of senior communications and marketing leaders at public research universities. The Council serves as a home for members to:

- Discuss common challenges and opportunities
- Share and elevate best practices
- Build relationships with fellow higher education communications and marketing leaders
- Work across institutions to build increased support for the value of public four-year research universities

KEY WAYS TO ENGAGE

Supported by APLU's Office of Public Affairs, members have numerous opportunities to engage with the Council and connect with their colleagues from across North America.

MEETINGS

CSC Summer Meeting

The CSC Summer Meeting is the premiere event for senior communications and marketing officials to engage, network, learn, and exchange best practices with peers from other APLU member institutions.

 Save the Date:
2024 CSC Summer Meeting
June 23-25, 2024 | Washington, D.C.

APLU Annual Meeting

The APLU Annual Meeting convenes senior leaders from public and land-grant universities, providing CSC members with the opportunity to collaborate and learn from each other and other leaders across an array of senior leadership positions.

 Save the Date:
2024 APLU Annual Meeting
November 10-12, 2024 | Orlando, FL

Virtual Meetings

When we aren't convening in person, the CSC hosts virtual meetings at least once a quarter. Both topic specific and open forum style, these meetings allow the group to discuss timely issues facing public research universities. (CSC-specific meetings are not recorded to allow for free-flowing and open conversations.)
