On January 15, 2020, a $50 million gift – one of the largest gifts in Oklahoma State’s history – was given to our college and its facilities by Kayleen and Larry Ferguson of the Ferguson Family Foundation. To honor the Fergusons' generosity and their vision for the future, we have renamed our college to the Ferguson College of Agriculture.

What are students saying?

“Study and snacks is helpful because it’s a quiet and comfortable space to study and get help for classes, plus there’s free snacks!”

“Study and Snacks is a great time to work on assignments and review study materials in an academically-oriented space alongside other Ferguson College students!”

“I believe that study and snacks is beneficial for students due to the relaxed atmosphere and camaraderie that students receive while also achieving academic goals together. It’s very difficult to achieve that same goal within a classroom setting.”
What are tutors saying?

“Study and Snacks is a great way for students to get peer tutoring from older students who have been in their shoes.”

“Study and snacks both helps students learn about their subjects and produces a positive impact on their daily lives, both nutritionally and psychologically.”

“I have enjoyed learning more about myself by interacting with students during study and snacks and know I have helped them with their coursework along the way.”
